Dear Barb,

It is my privilege and honor to bring a word of recommendation on behalf of Sandra Vogel as a speaker for the upcoming ministry conference. As her pastor for the past seven years, I can personally attest to her outstanding character, gifts of leadership, and godly wisdom. In my opinion, she personifies every quality that is necessary to be an effective communicator to women.

As a speaker- she is scripturally sound, captivating, and able to relate to her audience. As a woman of faith - she brings life experience coupled with sound judgment, making her a distinguishing woman (speaker) that others will listen to and learn from. In addition to her professional capabilities as a speaker, you will discover the rich resource that she will bring to the conference as a one-on-one communicator. I have personally witnessed through the years these abilities and have leaned on her on several occasions to be the bridge to women who were hurting. In each situation, Sandra was an example of love, grace, and wisdom.

I am confident that your ministry conference will be a success, simply because I know that Sandra will come prepared and prayed up to share from the overflow of her life.

May God favor you with His blessing and presence you as you prepare for this gathering.

In Christ,
Daniel Dunlop
